Can I block Verizon Fleet Administrator hardware?

2019/07/10

Hi Craig! Verizon Fleet Administrator is a modern advanced tracking system designed to provide the full data about the tracked vehicle, starting from its location and moving route and ending with total integration with vehicle's systems (electric, sensors, etc.) through the communication ports of the hardware part of this system. It also has the software part which is the app to monitor and control the situation. The tracking mechanism of the Verizon Fleet Administrator is based solely on GPS tracking technology, while other signals are used for additional features like in-vehicle messaging (with additional hardware) or turn-by-turn navigation. Thus the only frequency you need to block is GPS band that is used by the system to track your vehicle. In order to prevent your vehicle from being tracked by this high-tech tracking system you need to use Verizon Fleet Administrator jammer in your vehicle because even if the vehicle's electric system is down GPS tracker will still work for about 8 hours using its built-in battery and sending your coordinates to the monitoring center. I hope this information will help you to deal with your problem and to have your life really improved! ;)
