It is tuned individually before the purchase for you to be able to block specific frequency bands you need to block. You can use this jammer for many various purposes like jamming any type of the selected frequencies, or few of them, or even all of them simultaneously. And here comes your question. For real, the potential of this jamming device is huge and it is not as simple as it may seem to use it at the max level. Yet there is a way! Recently new satellite phone has been announced, and it is worth to mention that it is really cool :) It uses so many frequency bands for its work! GSM, GPS, WiFi and other wireless signals are what makes this thing work. And it's quite powerful to maintain its work properly. So to break this die-hard you need really powerful device with multi-frequency jamming ability. I hope now you will find out how it is cool to test the full power of this multi-purpose jamming device! ;)
