How can I prevent Elusiv Tracking Systems from tracking me?

2019/12/04

Hi Eddy! Elusiv Tracking Systems is very serious company that uses complex tracking system in order to determine the location of the object of its surveillance. They place the beacons with UHF signal onto the target, be it someone's cell phone, vehicle or even railway car. Those beacons then may be monitored and their position would be tracked in real time. They use traffic lights, moving vans and even helicopters if necessary as the base units to triangulate the location of the tracked beacon. The data gathered by base units goes to their communication link and from there the data goes to their customer by means of cellular, WiFi and Ethernet communications. There is no point to look for those links and block their signals, it is a waste of time. Instead you can use Elusiv Tracking Systems jammer to prevent their tracking beacons from recording your location and sending that data to the company's base units. You will totally secure yourself and your cargo in this way and would have nothing to worry about.
