Can someone use Glympse of my new Mercedes A-Class to spy on me?

2019/07/13

Hi Mike! Mercedes-Benz is teaming up with location sharing applications maker called Glympse and you are probably one of the first lucky guys who got new shiny Mercedes A-Class with Glympse location sharing app on board. You know, Mercedes-Benz can always make a pleasant surprise to their customers, and I must say that this one is quite impressive. Glympse is not a simple location sharing app. It puts Mercedes A-Class driver, i.e. you, in full control of its work. You can choose who will see your current location, when he or she start to see it and for how long your location will be shared with that person. Moreover, you can share your location with few persons at once. In addition there is a maximum timer limit set to 4 hours which means in case you forgot to set it off it will stop sharing your location automatically. Glympse location sharing app uses GPS tracking, WiFi location finding and cell phone tower triangulation technologies to determine the location of your Mercedes A-Class and share it when this option is turned on. Because of such complex tracking system usage it can sometimes even determine your location inside buildings like underground parking. I guess if you have money to buy Mercedes A-Class then you have ill-wishers which can try to track where you go and discover what places you visit. So in order to secure your location from bad guys you can block Glympse location sharing app in your Mercedes A-Class and feel safe about the privacy of your whereabouts.
